Clement's Kindness

A Little Kindness Can Make a Big Difference

"Clement's Kindness has benefitted each and every person involved by making each of us a little bit better person. Helping others is always a positive thing."

A little kindness can make a big difference.

Greetings,

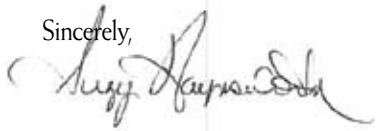

My name is Suzy Haynsworth and Clement Haynsworth, the person for whom Clement's Kindness Fund for the Children was named, was my brother-in-law. It has been almost eleven years since his death at the age of 24. He was an adorable six-year-old when I met him in 1981 and, at that very first meeting he asked me if I was going to marry his brother. As it turned out, six years later I did just that. Through the years, I watched Clement grow up. He had the usual happy milestones and expected troubles of a boy marching toward adulthood. In many ways, he was a typical child and teenager, but he had one quality that I always thought was a little on the rare side for a boy of his age. He had a fierce and tremendous love for my two children, his niece and nephew. It is that love, and the fact that he was so open and giving with it at an age when most boys don't want anything to do with babies and small children that makes it so right that Knox and Priscilla chose to honor him by setting up Clement's Kindness. Helping children in need would have made Clement very happy.

Since its inception in 2002, Clement's Kindness has touched many, many lives. The assistance the Fund has provided has not only benefitted children in need and their families; it has also benefitted each and every person involved by making each of us a little bit better person. Helping others is always a positive thing.

It is true that times are tough and we have all had to tighten our belts. But, if you take the time to read the stories of the brave children outlined in this Annual Report, you'll see what your contribution has accomplished. You will see that you have contributed to something truly wonderful.

Clement died at such a young age, before he had a chance to have children of his own. While we who loved him will always be saddened by that, in a very beautiful way it is as if each child who receives help through Clement's Kindness gets with that help a little piece of Clement's love. It is fitting somehow that such wonderful things have taken place in his name. Being associated with Clement's Kindness has made us, his family, very proud.

Sincerely,

Suzy Haynsworth

Clement Haynsworth

How Clement's Kindness Helps

The economic downturn coupled with the many significant challenges that face a family who has a child with a medical illness has added up to a record number of requests for assistance from Clement's Kindness in 2009. As anyone can understand, when your child is in intensive care and the doctors are not sure he will make it through the day, there is no parent in the world that would want to leave her child's side to go into work. Unfortunately, this is the reality often facing the families at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center of the Children's Hospital.

Even when parents are employed, often one has to quit work or take an extended leave of absence to support the treatment of the child. Together, the child and the parents need to focus on the treatment with the goal of helping the child get well. The family's bills continue to go up while their income goes down, and there simply aren't enough community services or programs to provide for every need. The devastating result is families facing life-threatening illness and serious financial crisis.

Fortunately, Clement's Kindness and the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center are here to help. The Center is one of only three in the state and treats children from Anderson to Spartanburg to Pickens and Pelzer. The staff at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center of the Children's Hospital is able to use Clement's Kindness to provide:

- Discretionary Funds for non-medical needs including mortgage payments, car payments, utility bills, car repairs, and more.
- Psychological Counseling that is integrated into the treatment plan and provided conveniently at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center.
- Travel Expenses and living expenses for families of children who must travel out of town to receive treatment.
- Out-of-Pocket Costs such as gas, meals, and phone calls.

Throughout this report, you will see examples of how a little kindness can make a big difference. From funds for support groups to assistance with everyday expenses to Camp Courage, Clement's Kindness has touched so many lives in both big and small ways.

Clement's Kindness Awards Special Gift to Camp Courage

In June, Clement's Kindness Fund for the Children announced a special gift of $500,000 to the Children's Hospital of Greenville Hospital System University Medical Center for the development of Camp Courage. The funds will be used for the creation of The Clement's Kindness Cabins and Recreation Area.

Founded in 1994 by the doctors, nurses and staff at the Children's Hospital, as well as community members, Camp Courage was created for children and teens diagnosed with cancer and blood disorders. For the past 15 years, Camp Courage has taken place at Camp Greystone in Tuxedo, North Carolina. For two weekends every summer, more than 100 patients from the Upstate of South Carolina, Western North Carolina, and Northeast Georgia areas have taken part in the weekend camps.

Dr. William Schmidt, Pediatric Oncologist at the Children's Hospital said, "Clement's Kindness has been a long-standing supporter of the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center providing financial, psychosocial, and social support for children with cancer and their families. This new donation to Camp Courage will make a positive difference in the lives of many children."

While Camp Greystone has been a wonderful setting for Camp Courage, the Children's Hospital and the Greenville County Recreation District have joined efforts to create a new home for Camp Courage here in the Upstate. The new location for Camp Courage, which will be part of the Pleasant Ridge Camp Conference and Retreat Center now under construction near the intersection of State 11 and U.S. 25, will ensure that the patients of the Children's Hospital are able to have a full week summer camp experience. In addition, the new camp will have a variety of uses for parent support, respite retreats, staff training and various other benefits to the Children's Hospital. The camp is expected to be fully operational by the summer of 2010.

"Having a new Camp Courage designed for the special needs of our patients is a dream come true for all the patients, families and staff of the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center," said Dr. Cary Stroud, Pediatric Oncologist at the Children's Hospital. "Now we can offer our patients a full week of summertime recreational and therapeutic activities, giving them an opportunity to enjoy so many of the outdoor and camping experiences they have missed out on because of their chronic illnesses. Many thanks to all the generous and thoughtful donors who are making this dream come true!"

"Clement's Kindness has seen first-hand the incredible impact Camp Courage has on the children at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center, and we are delighted to be able to contribute to the development of the camp's new home," said Knox Haynsworth, co-founder of Clement's Kindness Fund for the Children. "Clement's Kindness is dedicated to increasing the quality of life for the children at the Cancer Center, and we are confident that the new Camp Courage will bring joy to these children for many years to come. This gift of $500,000 was possible because of the generosity of the Greenville community, as well as the Spartanburg, Laurens, Greenwood, Easley, Anderson, and other Upstate communities."

Go Tigers!

Clement's Kindness sponsored a Greet and Meet with the Clemson Tigers, which was the highlight of the year for many families. Our families and a total of 137 people traveled to Clemson for the day. The activities started at the West End Zone parking lot, and Clement's Kindness graciously provided every patient and sibling with a football for autographs, as well as t-shirts that were donated by Tigertown Graphics.

The group was invited into the stadium to watch the players scrimmage for an hour or so. After the scrimmage, the players met the kids in the end zone and signed the patients' and siblings' footballs. After the football players left the field, the group traveled up to the West End Zone box seats so that they could enjoy lunch from Chick-Fil-A that Clement's Kindness also provided.

To see the smaller kids looking up at the large football players and holding up their autographed footballs was truly amazing. Each child, even those that may not be fans, walked away with an amazing day spent in Clemson, an autographed football, a t-shirt, and precious time spent with their family away from the hospital. We'd like to thank Clement's Kindness and everyone who helped organize the trip.

Clement's Kindness Hosts Trip to Carowinds

For many families, summertime often means the annual trip to an amusement park. However, when you have a child with cancer or serious blood disorder this type of carefree adventure is not easy. One parent often has to give up a job and finances are tight. That's why Clement's Kindness sponsors a yearly trip to Carowinds for patients under the age of 13 and their immediate family members.

This trip means much more than a simple admission ticket. By providing a fun trip to Carowinds, we can help these families spend time together without anyone being left out or left behind. It also allows them to meet other families who are experiencing the same feeling or hardships and know they are not alone. In addition, families who would not be able to afford the trip now can go without having to worry about the cost and can enjoy the experience.

This year, we had 34 families and a total of 172 people participate. For the trip, Clement's Kindness provided transportation, admission into the park, a picnic lunch and bottomless soda bracelets for each family. Many of the families enjoyed a leisurely ride on a chartered bus with snacks, drinks, and a movie, while the others drove. Once everyone arrived at the park, the families were given their tickets and the day was theirs to enjoy as a family.

All of the families had an amazing time together doing something that would not be possible without the help of Clement's Kindness. We'd like to thank everyone who helped make this such a memorable day.

Michelin Pro-Am Charity Tournament Raises Money for Clement's Kindness

The 2008 Michelin Pro-Am Charity golf tournament raised $108,000 for six charities in Greenville County including Clement's Kindness. The tournament was held in October of 2008 and was hosted by Michelin for its suppliers from across the country and around the world. Since its inception 19 years ago, the Michelin Pro-Am Charity tournament has raised more than $1.5 million for local charities.

"Michelin's commitment to the Greenville community comes from our core value of respect for people," said Herb Johnson, Director of Community Relations, Michelin North America. "Our suppliers understand and support this commitment, which allows this tournament to support organizations that are making a significant impact on the children and youth in our community."

The six charities that benefited from the 2008 tournament were Camp Opportunity, Clement's Kindness Fund for the Children, Hispanic American Women's Association, Juvenile Diabetes Research Fund, Lapsits for Early Literacy, and the Upstate Fatherhood Coalition.

Second Grader Donates $500 to Clement's Kindness

A check for $500 was presented to Clement's Kindness Fund for the Children at a Board of Directors luncheon at High Cotton Restaurant. Eight-year-old Allison Kerl politely refused to accept presents at her birthday party several months ago and instead asked friends and family to make donations to Clement's Kindness Fund for the Children in honor of her cousin Katie-Belle Cooley, an infant leukemia patient at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center. Allison's donation will go directly to the needs of the patients of the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center. Our sincere thanks goes to this special little girl for making such a difference in the lives of the children.

A Nurse, A Friend, An Inspiration

Ever since Ruth Cook can remember, she knew that she wanted to be a nurse. In fact, as a little girl, Ruth would tell everyone she met that one day she would be a nurse. She didn't know that one day her becoming a nurse would become a reality – it was just a dream. At that time, there was no school in Greenville that offered a nursing degree so Ruth traveled to Atlanta at the age of 17 to attend nursing school at Grady Memorial. In 1958, she realized her dream when she graduated and returned home to Greenville, where she started her first job on the pediatric floor of Greenville General.

Over her half-century career, Ruth has seen nursing and healthcare change dramatically. "When I first started my career, parents could not stay with their children and strict visiting hours were enforced." Only once does Ruth remember a father staying overnight in a sick patient's room. During the night, Ruth went to check on the child and bumped into something in the dark. That something turned out to be the child's father sleeping on the floor! "Thank goodness, all that has changed," Ruth remembers. "Over the years, the delivery of care has changed so much. We had to improvise so many things; we didn't have technology, we didn't have modern antibiotics, we didn't even have air conditioning on the floor."

In 1965, Ruth was promoted to head nurse and stayed on the pediatric floor at Greenville General until 1982 when the unit was moved over to the new Greenville Memorial. Ruth continued her education and proudly received a Bachelor of Science in Nursing from USCS in 1992.

Perhaps the most important thing Ruth has experienced in her fifty-year career is the incredible advancements in terms of treatment. Although childhood cancers are the number one disease killer of children - more than asthma, cystic fibrosis, diabetes, and pediatric AIDS combined - there is hope. The cancer death rate has dropped more dramatically for children than any other group due to progress in research. In fact, up to 75% of the children with cancer can be cured.

"If anyone had told me that this would have happened back in the start of my career, I would never have believed them. The best we could do fifty years ago was comfort the children and their families. There was one child we treated and he's now in his thirties and plays in a rock band. At the time when he was diagnosed with leukemia over thirty years ago, we didn't have much in terms of treatment and there wasn't much hope to give parents. Many children would never leave the hospital again. But this boy was a fighter and ultimately a survivor. Over the years, he always came back to see us, and his family was so grateful that he was alive. There are so many children that I remember, but he was definitely one of them."

Ruth has also been an important part of the support that's given to parents from Clement's Kindness. "It's been a wonderful experience working with Clement's Kindness. It's been just a joy to work with everyone and see the dedication, especially of Priscilla and Knox. In my early years, there weren't any organizations to help. To have a fund that will help parents is just so incredible, so good for the community. I feel fortunate to be a part of it. I will be there until they kick me out!"

Ruth officially retired from the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center in 2008. Today, she enjoys working in the garden and making fresh tomato soup for her husband. "We enjoy living on the farm with our cats and dogs. Every day, I work in the garden and make all kinds of things in the kitchen. I miss nursing and all those sweet hugs. There's something miraculous about nursing a sick child back to health. I still go back to the Center to join in on special occasions, but I feel so blessed and peaceful to be retired."

"I miss nursing and all those sweet hugs. There's something miraculous about nursing a sick child back to health."

- Ruth Cooke, RN

"Clement's Kindness helped my grandson by saving his family from losing their home. We just thank goodness that God has put people out there to help people like us."

- Diane Hill, grandmother of Jordan Thomason

Jordan Thomason, Belton

When you first meet Jordan, you would never imagine that he was in a coma for three months or that at one time he was paralyzed on his left side. The thirteen-year-old will soon enter the seventh grade at Belton Middle School. But this young man serves as an inspiration to all that meet him and hear his remarkable story that is punctuated by sheer determination and an incredible will to survive.

Jordan was like many boys his age; he liked to play outside, especially baseball where his favorite position was the outfield. In 2008, he was having trouble breathing and snoring when he slept. When doctors ran blood work prior to taking out his tonsils, they discovered Jordan had T-cell acute lymphocytic leukemia. He had to spend five months in the hospital as his treatment was complicated by a blood clot on the brain, pneumonia and he eventually slipped into a coma for three months. When he emerged from the coma, Jordan was paralyzed on his left side and he went to Rogers C. Peace Hospital for rehabilitation.

Throughout his fight with cancer and the complications, Jordan's mother and grandmother were by his side every step of the way. Clement's Kindness was able to help the family with assistance with their mortgage payments and a SIP visit to Jordan's school.

"I really want to thank Doctor Anderson and Pam Broughton who went above and beyond the call of duty. And I really would like to thank Clement's Kindness for providing the assistance to go to the National Youth Leadership Forum. It was a great experience for Brianna and she really took away so much from attending the forum."

- Melissa Jackson, Briana's mother

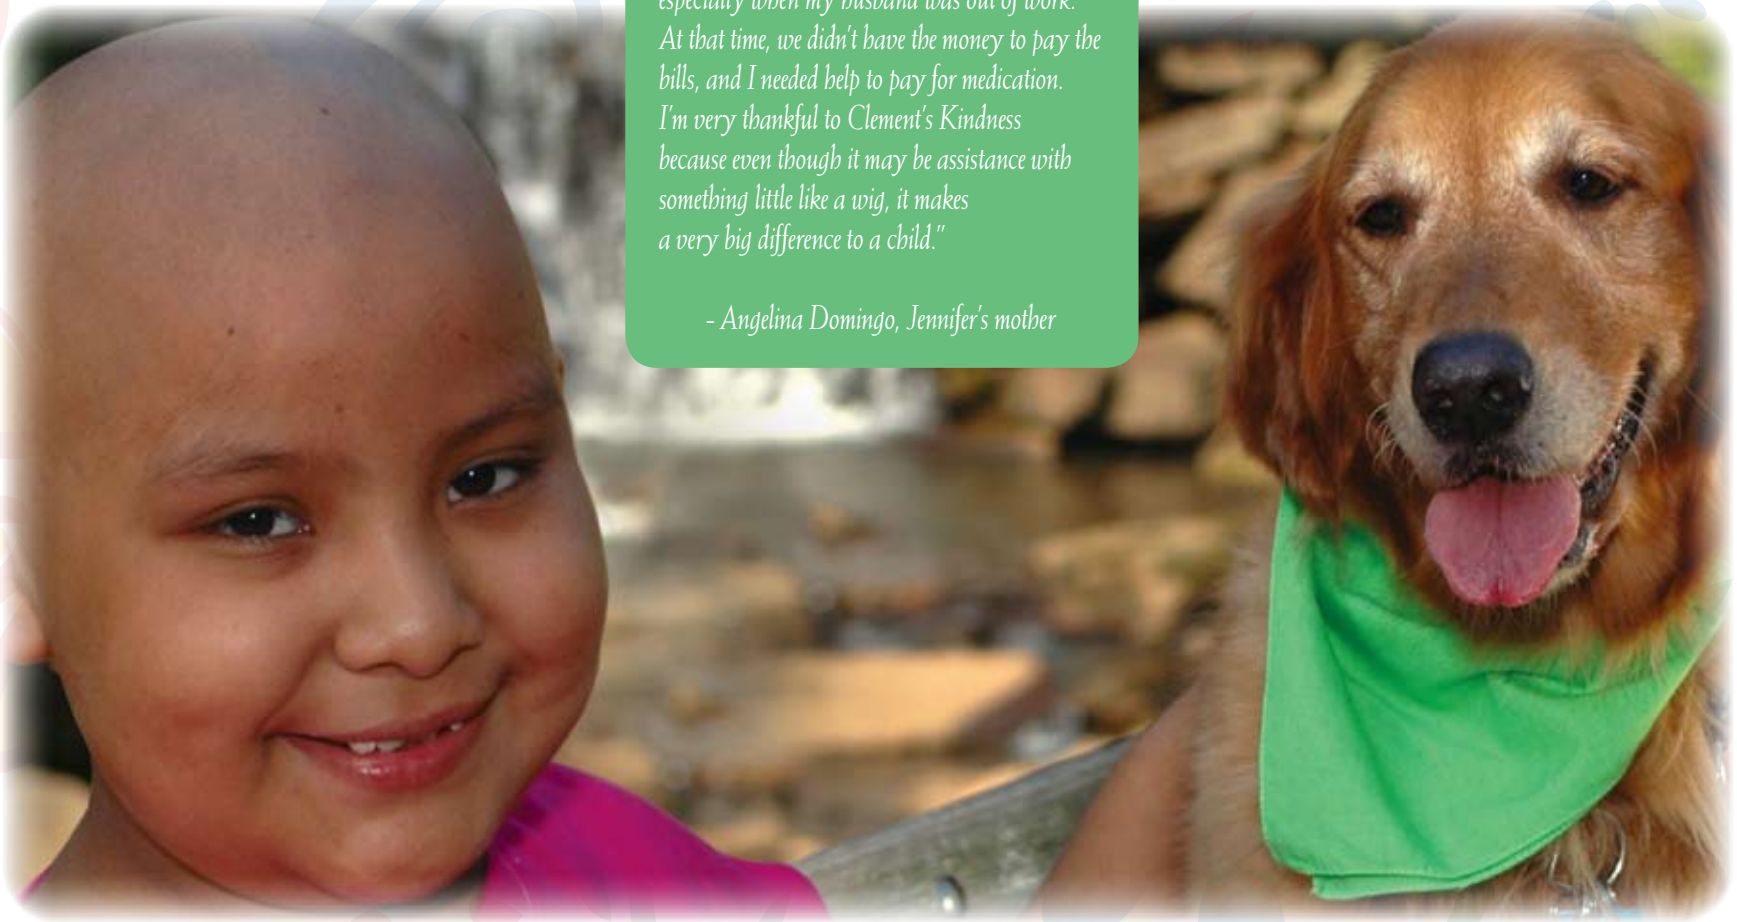

Briana Jackson, Spartanburg

Briana Jackson is a bright, bubbly teenager whose talents extend from the classroom to the athletic field and beyond. The fifteen-year-old attends Dorman High School, where she is on the cheerleading squad as well as the drum line. Briana also takes piano lessons at Converse College and is involved in the youth group at church. Clearly, sickle cell anemia does not slow this young woman down.

Briana would like to pursue a career in healthcare and eventually become an OB GYN. Duke University has taken notice of Briana through their Talent Identification Program and nominated her to attend the National Youth Leadership Forum on Medicine in Atlanta, Georgia. Briana mentioned to Doctor Anderson that she was selected for the program and wanted to go. Clement's Kindness was able to provide assistance with the tuition for the week-long forum. During the ten-day forum in Atlanta, Briana was able to go on clinical visits at Piedmont Hospital and Morehouse School of Medicine.

"Through the wonderful staff at the hospital, Clement's Kindness was able to help our family, especially when my husband was out of work. At that time, we didn't have the money to pay the bills, and I needed help to pay for medication. I'm very thankful to Clement's Kindness because even though it may be assistance with something little like a wig, it makes a very big difference to a child."

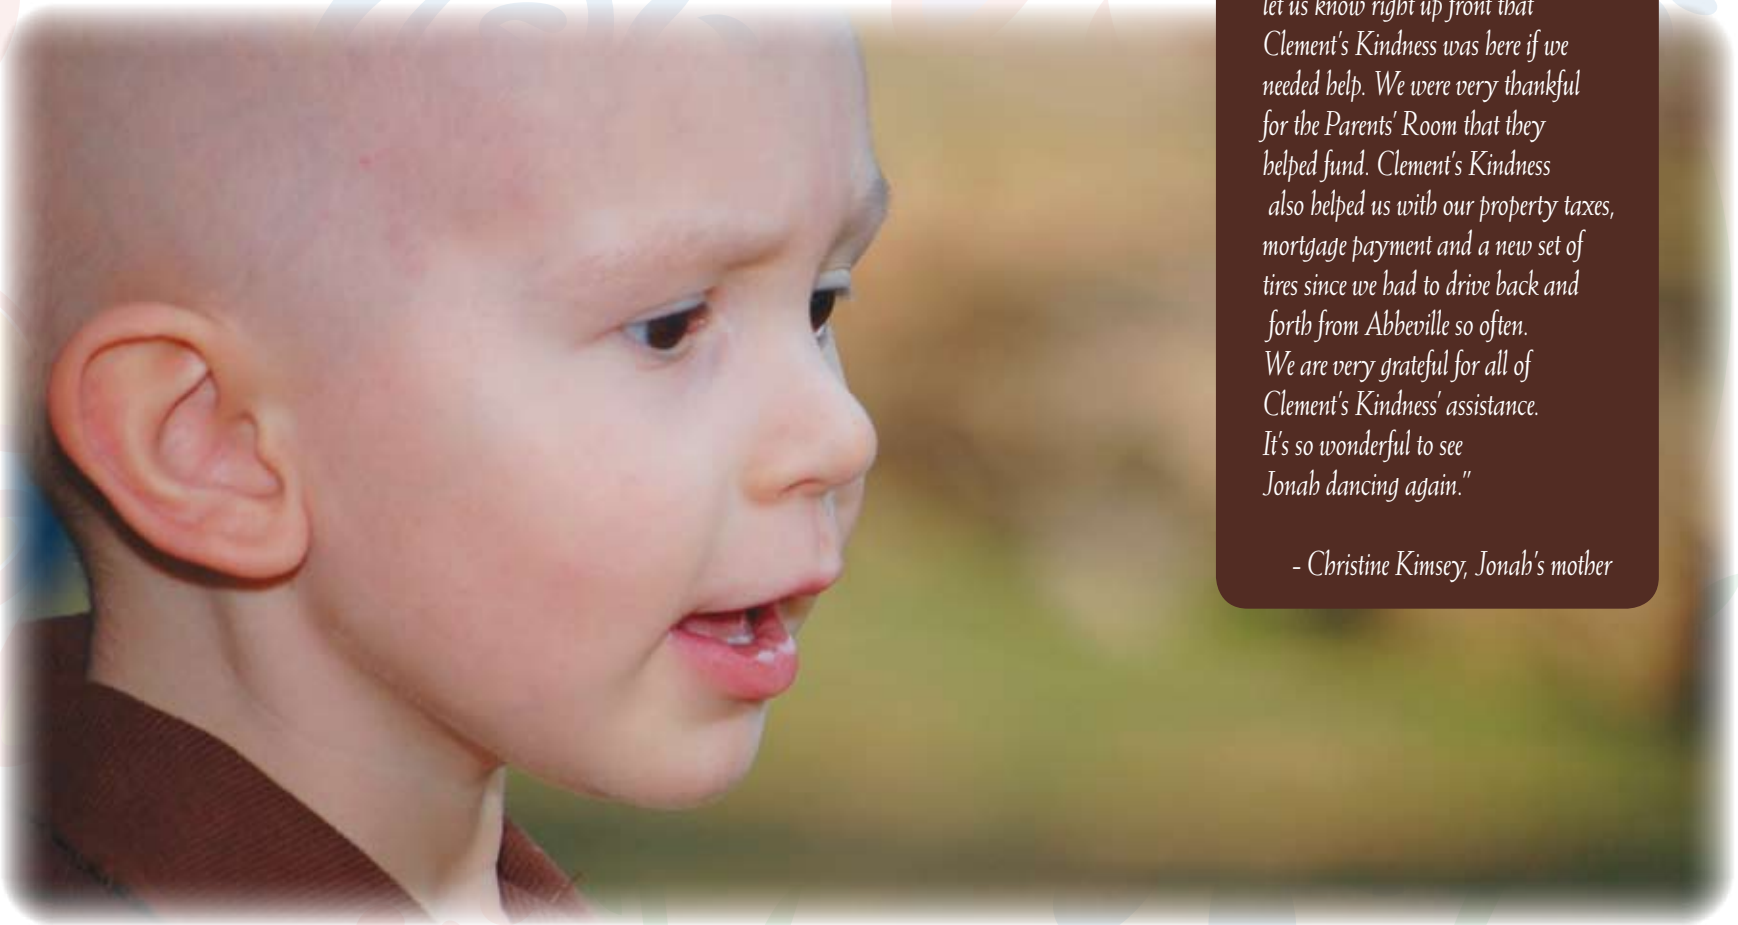

- Angelina Domingo, Jennifer's mother

Jennifer Fernandez, Greenville

The eight-year old little girl in the bright pink shirt is a math whiz. In fact, Jennifer Fernandez has the highest grade in mathematics at the Thomas E. Kearns school. When she's not working on math problems, you can find Jennifer watching a history movie or riding her bike outside.

Jennifer has also been incredibly brave in her fight against non-hodgkin's lymphoma. Throughout her battle, Clement's Kindness has helped Jennifer and her family by assisting with telephone payments, a SIP school visit, and a wig when this brave little girl lost her hair.

"The staff at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center let us know right up front that Clement's Kindness was here if we needed help. We were very thankful for the Parents' Room that they helped fund. Clement's Kindness also helped us with our property taxes, mortgage payment and a new set of tires since we had to drive back and forth from Abbeville so often. We are very grateful for all of Clement's Kindness' assistance. It's so wonderful to see Jonah dancing again."

- Christine Kimsey, Jonah's mother

Jonah Kimsey, Abbeville

Jonah is an adorable toddler that loves to sing and dance, so when he stopped walking last summer his parents were understandably alarmed. The family went to see several doctors in Abbeville before an orthopedic specialist in Greenville admitted Jonah into the hospital. After a series of tests were performed, a small round blue cell tumor showed up on an MRI. Jonah was initially admitted to the hospital for nine days for chemotherapy treatment.

Over the past year, Jonah and his family have had to travel to Greenville and stay at the hospital nine times for chemotherapy treatments. During his three to five day stays, his parents keep Jonah entertained in the children's play area and have found a special refuge in the Parents' Room.

Clement's Kindness and the Hollingsworth Foundation Board helped fund the Parent's Room to offer a place of rest and relaxation. The room is on the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center inpatient unit and next to the children's play area. Furnished with computers, telephones, a comfortable sofa and love seat, it's a wonderful place for the parents to have as a respite from the hospital room yet be close enough to their child's room and play area to keep an eye on their child.

"Thanks to Clement's Kindness and the staff at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center, we have everything we need. When we needed to talk to someone, they were there; they told us to have faith and be strong. Actually, the whole time Pearlisha was in treatment, I didn't have to ask for anything because they would anticipate our needs. Clement's Kindness is simply wonderful."

- Anne White, Perlisha's mother

Pearlisha White, Anderson

Like most fourth grade girls, Pearlisha loves the television show Hannah Montana. And just like her idol on the show, Pearlisha is also very creative and has a special talent in the arts with painting and writing.

Pearlisha suffers from aplastic anemia and when her blood counts started getting low, she needed a liver and stem cell transplant that required her to go to the Medical University of South Carolina in Charleston for treatment. While her mother stayed in Greenville to care for Pearlisha's siblings, her father was always by her side and traveled back and forth with her to Charleston multiple times for the transplants and treatments.

Clement's Kindness was by the family's side and was able to assist with gas cards for the trips to Charleston, car repairs and new tires, as well as assistance with utility and power bills.

Carolina Therapy Dogs – A Special Breed

On the morning of July 15, the patients and families of the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center took a special trip to Falls Park to take the wonderful pictures and share the stories that are featured in this report. Little did the children know, there were some special friends eagerly awaiting their arrival.

Carolina Therapy Dogs Tara, Oliver, Boomer, Cassie, Ginger, Virgil, Dena, Toby and Jazmin were there to greet the families as they arrived, and with wagging tails and puppy kisses, they welcomed the patients to what turned out to be a very fun-filled morning. Each child was able to choose their favorite cuddly companion for their picture which helped to ease the children's fears about having their photos made, and proved to be pretty entertaining as well!

As it turned out, some of the children and dogs were old friends. Carolina Therapy Dogs, an organization of volunteers, often share their special animals with patients and their families at The BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center.

Interacting with a dog often helps patients forget about their fears and situation, if only for a while, and instead focus on the dog who provides reassurance and love, which is exactly what the doctor ordered.

Thank you Carolina Therapy Dogs for the joy you brought to these children and their families.

Help Us Make a Difference

With your help and support, Clement's Kindness can continue to make a big difference. A donation is the perfect opportunity to touch the hearts of these incredible families and see your generosity at work in the Upstate.

Every donation goes directly to the patients and their families. Your donation may be used for gas money to take a child back and forth for chemotherapy over the course of several months. Or your donation could provide funds for a plane ticket to visit a specialist across the country. Your donation may be used to help with a mortgage payment because a mother had to leave her job to care for her son. As you've seen, the needs are many, but so are the opportunities to help:

$5,000 can provide funds for a School Re-entry Program, which helps transition and prepare children to reenter a school environment.

$2,500 can sponsor a Family Support Day and Retreat.

$1,000 can pay for incidental expenses for a family to take a trip to Duke University for a bone marrow transport evaluation.

$500 can help a family with a mortgage payment or their utility bills for a month.

$250 can fund a monthly Teenager Support Meeting and pizza lunch.

$150 can be used for an initial medication evaluation for a patient and family member.

$50 can pay for a gas card for transportation to and from appointments or a grocery store gift card.

If you are able to, please remember Clement's Kindness Fund for the Children in your Will. All contributions and donations are tax deductible. Please check with your tax advisor.

Thank You for Your Kindness

Clement's Kindness would like to thank the following donors who have helped make a big difference in so many peoples' lives. Your contribution goes directly to helping these patients and families who come to the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center from across the Upstate, including Abbeville, Cherokee, Greenville, Laurens, Spartanburg, and Union counties. We thank you for your generosity because without your kindness we would not be able to help.
