A Little Kindness Can Make a Big Difference

A Personal Connection to Clement's Kindness

Hello,

Thank you for taking the time to read about Clement's Kindness and for considering this great organization as part of your charitable giving.

Clement's Kindness is dedicated to serving the non-medical needs of families who have a child suffering from cancer or other serious blood disorders, specifically those children treated here in the Upstate by Dr. Cary Stroud and his staff at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center.

I would like to share my personal connection with Clement's Kindness and why I have chosen to serve this incredible mission.

My big brother, Frank M. DuPree, Jr., lost his battle with cancer in 1988, just before his tenth birthday. I saw first-hand his struggle as well as my parents'. It was a difficult time. He underwent painful treatments which required him to travel often, and as a result, he missed many of the simple pleasures of childhood like playing with friends. My parents were required to take extended time away from work and leave me with other family members while they traveled with Frank.

There are a couple key observations that I remember vividly: the emotional toll that the diagnosis, treatment, traveling, and caring for Frank took on my parents as well as the absolute courage and hope that my brother displayed upon his diagnosis and throughout his treatment. It is amazing that in spite of grueling and exhausting treatments, children are able to hold on to their innocence and maintain a positive outlook. As you read the incredible stories of some of the families we have been privileged to help, please note the courage and the hope in the eyes of the patients whose pictures are included. Try to imagine the heartache, emotional stress, and financial burden placed on the parents of these children. They need help!

One thing I love about giving to Clement's Kindness is that your donation makes an immediate and visible impact on families here in the upstate of South Carolina. For those of you who have given in the past, please know that it is your support that has made an impact on the lives of the families whose stories we have included in this report.

With your help, we are able to provide families direct financial assistance for travel expenses, mortgages, utility payments, and much more. Additionally, Clement's Kindness supports annual events such as Camp Courage, a trip to Carowinds, and outings with local college sports teams. These events provide, even if only briefly, the opportunity for families to have a normal life.

Please join me in making an immediate and visible impact on local families in need of our help.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Bern DuPree

How Clement's Kindness Helps

Clement Haynsworth

The Haynsworth family realized just how fleeting life is after the death of their son, Clement, at the age of 24. Clement loved children and had a kind and giving spirit so they chose to remember him by reaching out to the children whose lives are most fragile — those who are fighting the battle with cancer and other serious blood disorders. However, children are not the only victims of these aggressive maladies. Clement's Kindness also works to alleviate the strains such diseases place on the patients' families.

One patient's parent made a telling statement during an interview for this report: "Cancer really sets you back mentally, physically, emotionally, and financially." Truer words were never spoken, for a distressing diagnosis and the treatments that frequently follow devastate the child and family alike. When a child is in intensive care and a life hangs in the balance, no parent in the world could leave that child's side to go to work. Unfortunately, this is the reality that families often face.

Even when parents are employed, one often has to quit work or take an extended leave of absence to support treatment of the child. Treatment is something they must undergo together, and recovery is a goal that they must work towards as a family. Though its aim is to heal the child, it often harms the family. Bills continue to go up while incomes go down and there simply aren't enough community services or programs to provide for every need.

Fortunately, Clement's Kindness and the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center are here to help*. The center is one of only three in the state and it treats children in the Anderson, Spartanburg, Pickens, Pelzer, Laurens, and Greenwood areas. The staff uses Clement's Kindness to provide:

- School Intervention Program (SIP)
- Showing Courage All Together (SCAT) teen and parent support groups
- Financial assistance
- Gas and Grocery cards
- Annual Carowinds family outings
- Clemson and Furman sports outings
- Special requests
- Sympathy floral arrangements and the book, Healing After Loss, upon a patient's death

*The BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center (formerly known as the Pediatric Hematology/Oncology Center) is the main referral center for the treatment of pediatric cancer and serious blood disorders for the Upstate. Patients range in age from infants to 18 years old.

This report shares examples of how a little kindness can make a big difference. From summer camp to funding for support groups to assistance with everyday expenses, Clement's Kindness touches countless lives in ways both big and small.

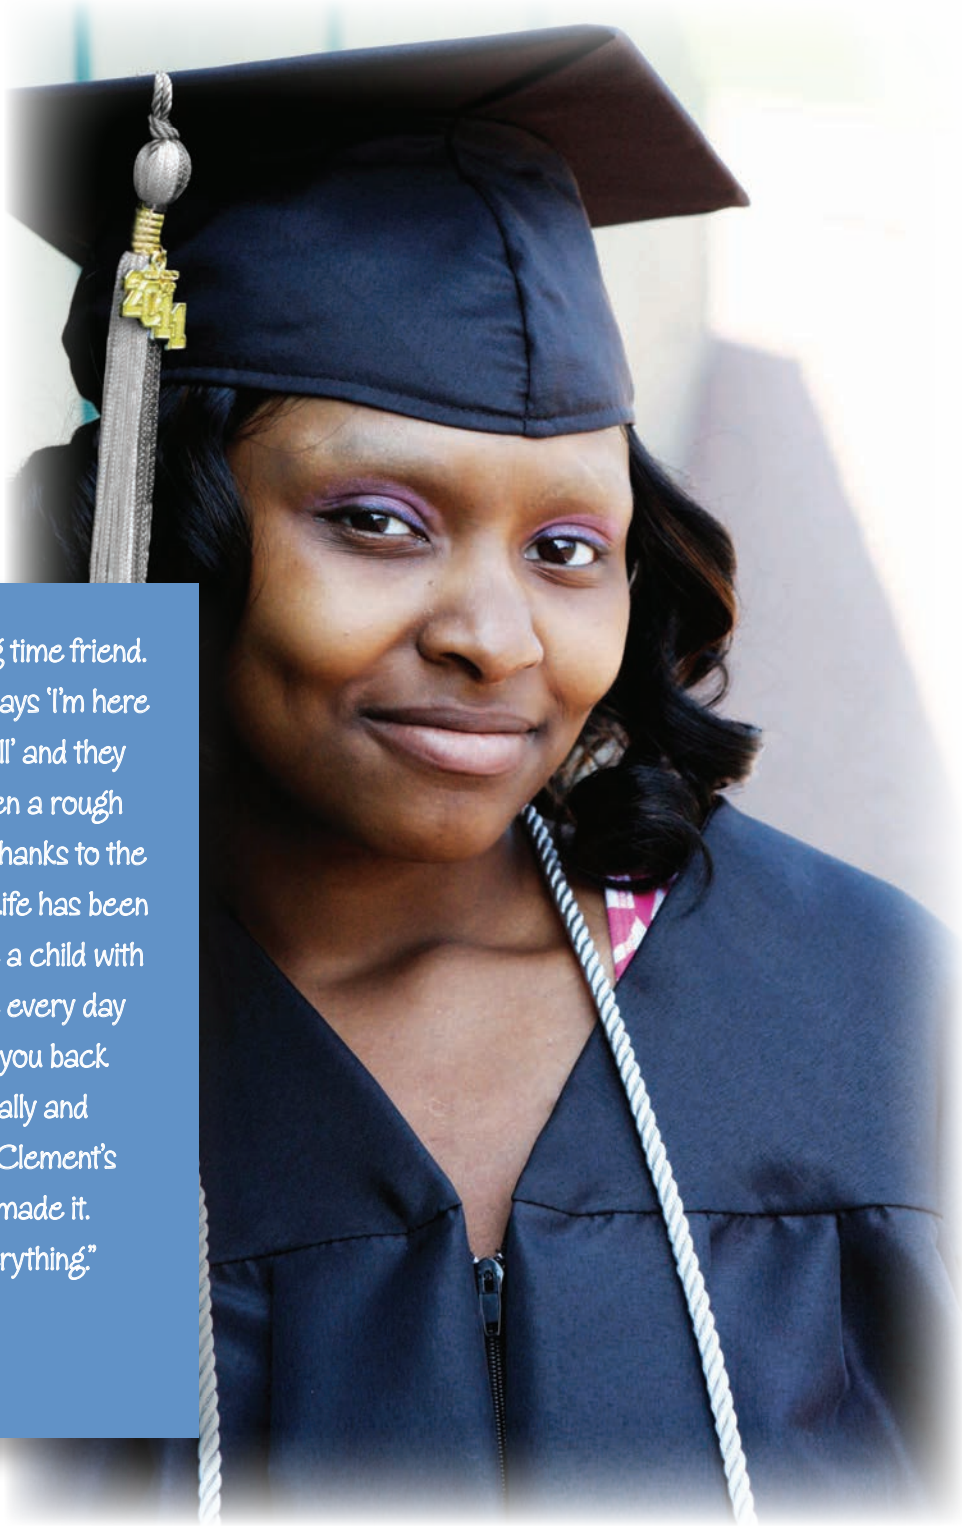

Morgan C. McLeskey
Anderson, South Carolina

"Clement's Kindness has helped out our family in so many ways, including a car repair and utility bill. My husband is self-employed and he wanted to be there for Morgan throughout her treatment and if it wasn't for their support, he couldn't have been. I don't know what we would have done without Clement's Kindness."

— Angela
Mother

With her beautiful smile and bright eyes, Morgan reminds you of Tinker Bell and the Pixie Hollow characters that she loves so much. However, last June she was diagnosed with acute lymphocytic leukemia just after she finished kindergarten. Since then, Morgan has been seen weekly at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center to receive treatment and check her port.

Understandably, her parents were initially devastated by the diagnosis, but they are also inspired by her positive attitude and bright outlook. Morgan reaches out to new patients at the hospital and has also made new friends at Camp Courage. Her favorite thing to do is swim, and the Make-A-Wish Foundation® will soon be granting her wish by providing her with her very own pool in the family's backyard. Clement's Kindness has also been there for the family during this critical year to provide peace of mind while they focused on Morgan's treatment.

Taniesha Henderson

Greenville, South Carolina

"Clement's Kindness is like a long time friend. Honestly, it's like the friend that says 'I'm here for you, all you have to do is call' and they really are there for you. It's been a rough year, but we've made it through thanks to the support of Clement's Kindness. Life has been so uncertain and when you have a child with cancer, you want to make sure every day is special. Cancer really sets you back mentally, physically, emotionally and financially. If it hadn't been for Clement's Kindness, we wouldn't have made it. We really do appreciate everything."

— Marilyn
Mother

Taniesha was looking forward to the summer of her junior year of high school when she would have more free time to go to movies or downtown for ice cream with friends. In June 2010, her summer plans drastically changed — Taniesha was diagnosed with alveolar rhabdomyosarcoma. Her intensive treatment required multiple extended hospitalizations, and she was unable to attend much of her senior year at Wade Hampton High. However, this honor student remained undaunted, attending prom and graduating with honors on June 1, 2011.

Clement's Kindness has assisted the family the past year with utility and car insurance payments, car repairs, a wig, class ring, and her graduation cap and gown.

As she looks to the future, her main goal is to prepare for an education at Greenville Tech and study for a career in either law enforcement or early childhood education.

Jukiya Shekaury Mills
Simpsonville, South Carolina

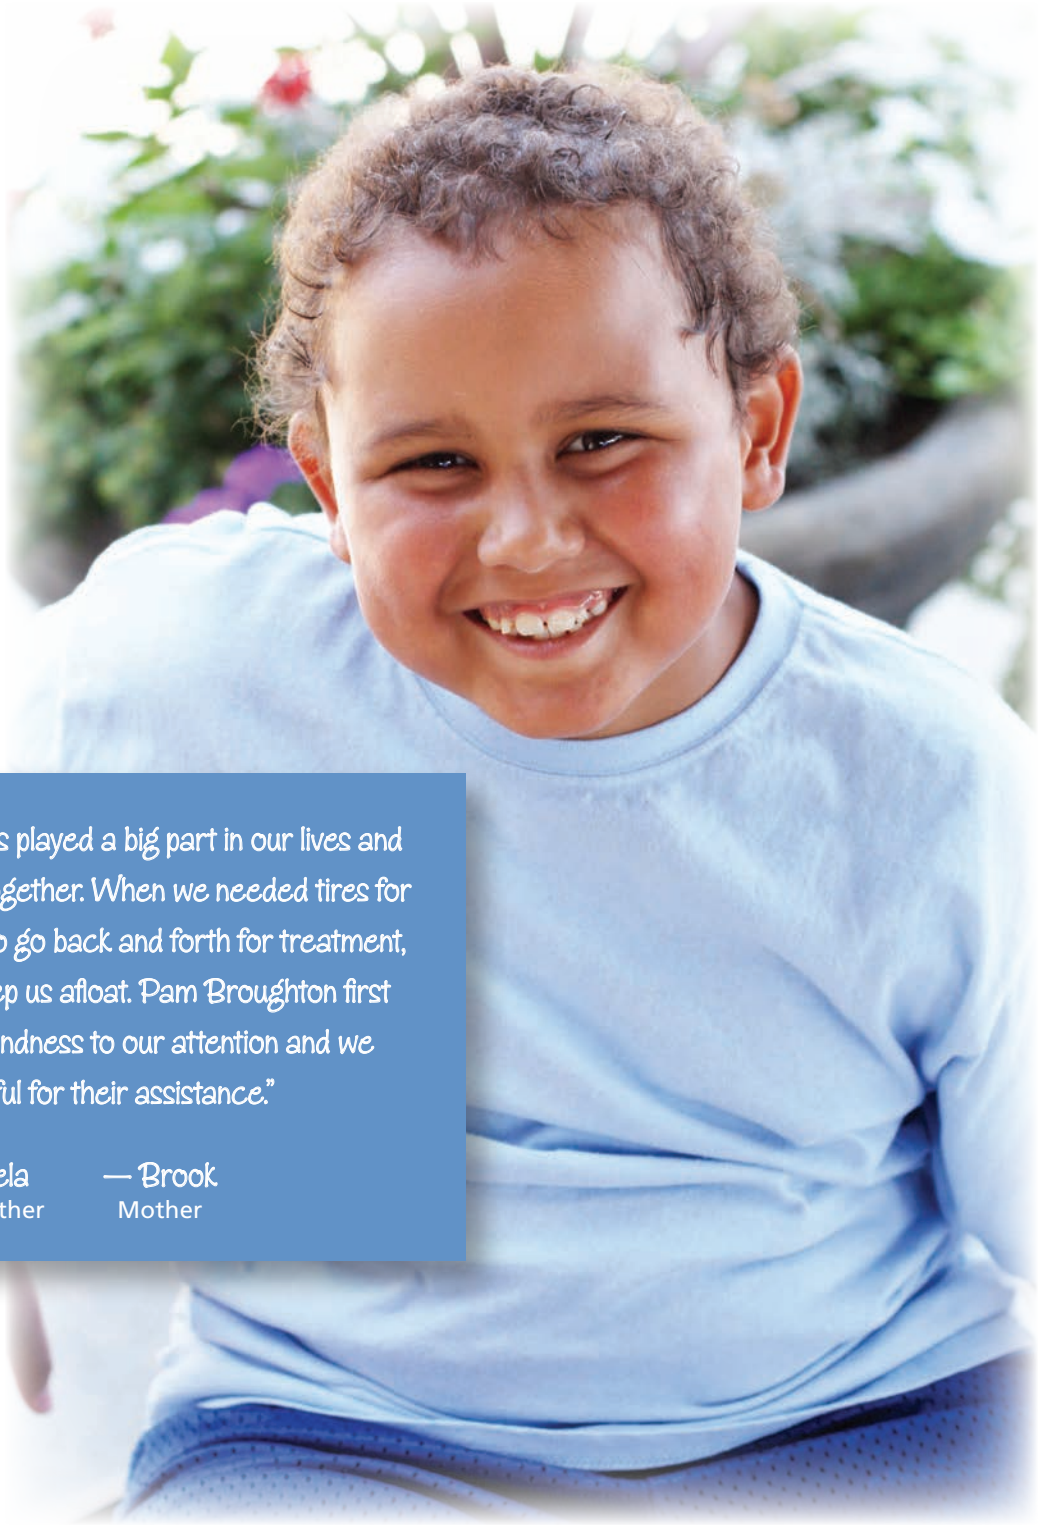

"Clement's Kindness has meant a lot to her family because Jukiya gets to go on special trips like to Carowinds or Camp Courage, where she can just have fun and be a kid. She really loves and appreciates these trips, because it provides a break from everything.
I would like to thank Clement's Kindness for all the help, my little girl really loves them."

— Eddie
Father

Jukiya is a fun-loving girl on the go — she likes to play outside with her friends, ride bikes, or play the Wii — even when she's receiving her blood transfusions. The fourth grader was diagnosed with sickle cell anemia at birth and now receives weekly treatments to manage her disease.

Clement's Kindness has assisted the family with several School Intervention Program (SIP) visits to support her academic success, as well as a special scholarship for tutoring at the Camden Learning Center last summer.

One of Jukiya's favorite things to do is attend Camp Courage every summer to swim and ride horses. She also looks forward to the annual visit to Carowinds, a trip she enjoys with friends made at the hospital.

Xhanderr L. Grozis

Greer, South Carolina

"Clement's Kindness has played a big part in our lives and made a big gap come together. When we needed tires for the car, or gas money to go back and forth for treatment, they were there to keep us afloat. Pam Broughton first brought Clement's Kindness to our attention and we are so thankful for their assistance."

— Angela
Grandmother

— Brook
Mother

With such a sweet smile and not a shy bone in his body, it's easy to see why Xhanderr is a friend magnet to everyone in his second grade class. He was enjoying his summer break last year when he suddenly developed a high fever. After blood work was done, he was diagnosed with acute lymphocytic leukemia and hospitalized for 12 days for treatment and to get a port.

Xhanderr now receives weekly treatment, and during treatment he likes to play the Wii or do arts and crafts. Clement's Kindness assisted the family with School Intervention Program (SIP) visits, rent, and a trip to Camp Courage.

When Xhanderr was asked what his favorite thing about Camp Courage was, he said just one word, "Everything." He loves to go to the camp where he can fish, swim, and hang with all the friends he's met at the hospital.

Ashton F. Morton

Pelzer, South Carolina

"Clement's Kindness means everything to me because they provided peace of mind when I felt like all hope was lost and they were there for us. Jamie is so great at planning things so the kids can spend time together and feel some sense of normalcy. I want to give everything I can to my child. We owe Clement's Kindness so much, we could never repay them."

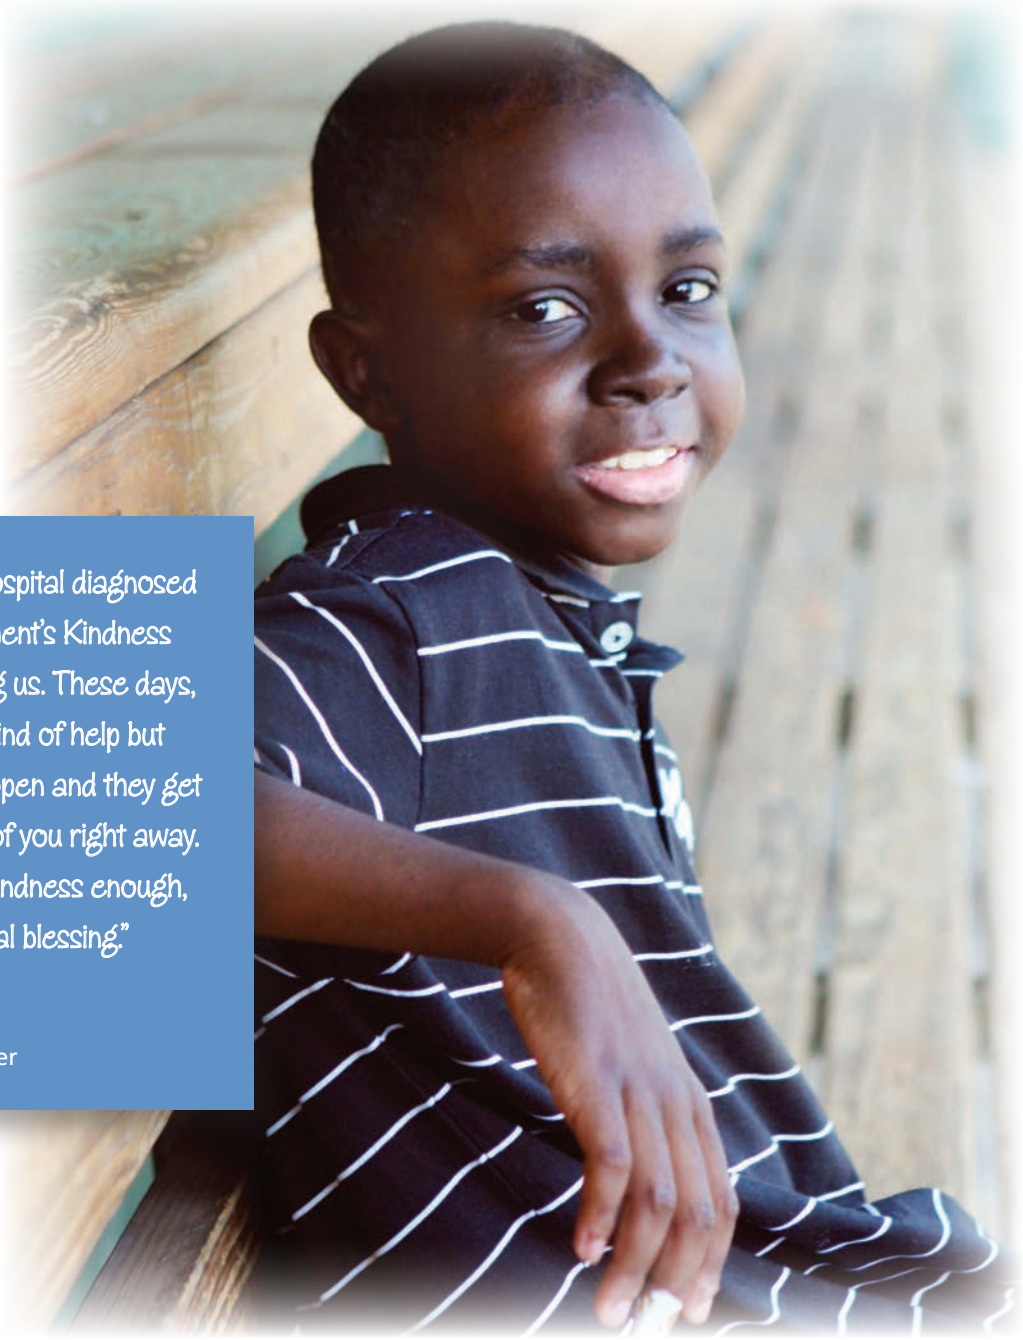

— Sandra
Mother

Ashton loves hanging out at home with her family, even her eleven-year old brother. On the weekends, her favorite things to do are to read a book from the Vampire Academy series or watch one of the Twilight movies. In November 2002, the eighth grader was diagnosed with Idiopathic thrombocytopenic purpura (ITP).

Clement's Kindness assisted the family with a School Intervention Program (SIP) visit and trips to Camp Courage and Carowinds.

Dr. Glenn Head, a board member for Clement's Kindness, also volunteered his services and provided extensive dental care. Ashton is very happy with her beautiful smile, and her mom is greatly appreciative of Dr. Head's time and expertise.

Ashton enjoyed her fourth year at Camp Courage this summer. It is an event she looks forward to every year where her favorite camp activity is the climbing wall. Camp Courage offers Ashton a special place to connect with other kids who are going through the same trials.

Tron D. Foster
Boiling Springs, South Carolina

"When we were at the hospital diagnosed with bone cancer, Clement's Kindness played a big part in helping us. These days, it's so hard to find this kind of help but Clement's Kindness is so open and they get you set up and take care of you right away. I can't thank Clement's Kindness enough, they have been a real blessing."

— Ashley
Grandmother

Tron loves animals, especially Clemson Tigers, and his ideal day is spent fishing on a lake. When you first meet this engaging nine-year old, you would never guess that he's been on the frontline of a three-year battle with cancer. In September 2008, Tron was initially diagnosed with osteogenic sarcoma of the leg and treated with surgery and chemotherapy, which he completed in 2009. Tron was doing well, but he was then diagnosed with acute myelocytic leukemia in November 2010. He was treated with chemotherapy followed by an Allogenic Bone Marrow Transplant in February 2011 at the Medical University of South Carolina (MUSC).

Tron has been discharged, but he and his mother travel weekly to MUSC, in Charleston, South Carolina, for medical follow-up care. He is also followed at Emory University Medical Center as well as the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center. Due to the extensive travel involved with his treatments, the fourth grader has been home schooled the past two years.

This fall will be the first time in two years that he will be able to attend school. In December, the Make-A-Wish Foundation® will grant his wish to go to Disney World and take his first plane ride. Clement's Kindness has helped this amazing family with utility bills, rent and car payments.

Having fun is an important part of treatment.

The things most children take for granted, such as a trip to camp or Carowinds, are taken away once a child is diagnosed with cancer or a blood disorder. Fortunately the staff at BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center is able to organize fun trips for the patients where their special needs can be accommodated. These outings are one of the most important things Clement's Kindness supports because these experiences are designed to give children a fun, relaxing break from their frequently exhausting treatment routine. The patients can remember who they are without their sickness while connecting with other patients who are able to relate to what they're experiencing.

Camp Courage

63 children campers and 38 teen campers were able to attend this year.

CAMP COURAGE

A Special Place For Courageous Kids

Carowinds Trip

35 families with a total of 154 people enjoyed this trip.

Clemson Trip

24 families with a total of 85 people were able to join us for this special outing.

School Intervention Program Makes the Grade to Help Patients

When children are diagnosed with cancer or a blood disorder, their entire world is turned upside down, including being able to attend school. Treatment often brings weekly doctor's appointments, monthly transfusions, frequent and sometimes lengthy hospitalizations, and often home confinement as a result of a suppressed immune system. The disruption in school attendance can be devastating to a child's development. The School Intervention Program (SIP) provides assistance and guidance for parents and patients who are unfamiliar with available school services.

With the parent or guardian's permission, SIP staff makes contact with the school to coordinate a plan to help the patient continue his or her education. School plays an important role in the lives of these children and the School Intervention Program can help maintain a sense of normalcy with a team that works to help promote the child's education and advocates on their behalf.

"The School Intervention Program is like a puzzle. Everyone comes together to make the pieces fit, and in the long run this benefits the child," commented Toshau Henderson, mother of Jukiya, a patient at BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center.

A nurse, a social worker, and a patient education puppet are available to make a visit to the classroom to explain the child's illness and effects of treatment. The SIP staff can also help:

- Consult with parents regarding their child's school needs and concerns
- Request homebound instruction for children enrolled in public school
- Communicate with teachers and school personnel to assist with school-related issues during and following treatment
- Coordinate visits to the school to provide education regarding the child's diagnosis and treatment
- Navigate and understand the educational system, empowering parents to be advocates for their child
- Attend school meetings with parents to assist with educational planning
- Advocate for patients (during and following treatment) ages pre-school through college
- Conduct neurocognitive testing and make educational recommendations based on results

"Children with cancer or a blood disorder already face many challenges, so we believe problems in school should not be one of them. We'd like to thank Clement's Kindness for their support of this very important program."

— Cathy King
Nursing Program Coordinator

An Interview with Jamie Gibson

An important part of every child's life is their social development, forming friendships with peers, and in general, just having fun being a kid. However, when children are diagnosed with cancer or a serious blood disorder, they are often isolated from their friends and playtime is replaced with treatment time in the hospital.

Fortunately, Jamie Gibson is here to help. Jamie grew up in Pickens, South Carolina, and received her undergraduate degree in Therapeutic Recreation from Clemson University and her MS degree in Child Life from the University of Alabama, as well as a M.Ed. in Community Mental Health Counseling from Clemson University.

In 2002, Jamie began her career at the Greenville Children's Hospital as a Certified Child Life Specialist on the school age and adolescent floor working with the pediatric hematology/oncology patients as well as general pediatric patients.

In April 2004, Jamie moved to the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center where she could spend more time with the patients and families, as well as help with the extensive coping required by their healthcare experience.

As a Certified Child Life Specialist, Jamie helps children, adolescents, and young adults cope with their healthcare experience through medical preparation, age-appropriate education, distraction, play, and psychosocial support. She also provides observational and structured developmental assessments, as well as assessment of a patient or family member's ability to cope.

In order to help foster the childrens' social development, Jamie provides support groups for pre-teen and teen patients and plans fun outings, like the fall carnival, Carowinds, and Clemson football visits.

Jamie notes that these efforts, which help patients gain peer support, are made possible by Clement's Kindness. "These outings sound like just a fun day, but they really offer families the chance to do something together without a financial burden and provide them with an opportunity to share dialogue about their individual experiences. Families share stories and usually end up exchanging contact information to remain a source of support for each other after the event," said Jamie.

Another important part of Jamie's job is planning and implementing Camp Courage. Clement's Kindness has been instrumental in providing a new home for Camp Courage, that includes a state-of-the-art, fully handicapped accessible facility. As a result of Clement's Kindness support, Jamie is able to plan sibling weekends at the camp, two full weeks of camp for patients, ages 5-18, and future programs such as a bereavement weekend and family weekend.

"Clement's Kindness has been at the heart of providing psychosocial care for our patients and their families. Being able to have Clement's Kindness as a resource to help a struggling family with an electric bill or to give a senior in high school the opportunity to attend his prom is equal to the medical care that is provided to our patients and families daily. It is in these moments that we are absolutely sure of how much of an impact Clement's Kindness and its contributors are making on the lives of those that they may never have the opportunity to meet," added Jamie.

We would also like to thank Jamie for her tireless dedication and efforts, as she truly makes an important difference for every patient and family that she serves and supports.

Community Events Support Clement's Kindness

Unveiled: A Night of Fashion

On Thursday, May 19, 2011, Greenville's most stylish came together for an evening of fabulous fashion, food, and fundraising with Unveiled: A Night of Fashion. Partners TALK Greenville, Linda McDougald Design | Postcard from Paris Home and Coplon's created an elegant event to celebrate style and fashion in Greenville while giving back to the community with a donation of more than $3,500 to Clement's Kindness.

"This event was created to celebrate how wonderfully fashionable Greenville really is while also giving something back to the community," said Susan Schwartzkopf, The Greenville News. "Clement's Kindness is such a wonderful organization that makes a huge impact in some of the simplest ways for these families, and we are proud to support them."

Clement's Kindness is extremely grateful for corporate partners like TALK Greenville, Linda McDougald Design | Postcard from Paris Home and Coplon's. These organizations understand the importance of giving back to the community in which they serve, and Clement's Kindness appreciates their support and generosity.

BI-LO CHARITIES

BI-LO Charity Classic Nine with Wine

Nine with Wine, a unique ladies' charity golf outing, wine tasting, and luncheon, was held on June 6, 2011, in conjunction with the Annual BI-LO Charity Classic. A portion of the event proceeds will benefit Clement's Kindness, illustrating BI-LO

Charities continued support of the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center and their patients.

SYNNEX Share the Magic

On October 15, 2011, SYNNEX Corporation will host the first annual SYNNEX Share the Magic fundraiser benefitting Make-A-Wish Foundation® of SC and other local children's charities including Clement's Kindness.

Peter Larocque, president of U.S. Distribution for SYNNEX Corporation, had a vision to create an annual fundraising event in the Upstate of South Carolina to support children who suffer from life-threatening illnesses and their families. As a member of the Board of Directors of the Make-A-Wish Foundation® of South Carolina, Peter saw first-hand how critical the need is to help these children celebrate their lives through granting a "wish" or to help families cover some of the costs of their child's overwhelming medical bills.

Clement's Kindness is privileged to be selected as a beneficiary of this inaugural event and extremely grateful for the positive impact of corporate partners like SYNNEX Corporation on the Upstate community.

Rose Ball

The Rose Ball is one of the most beautiful and elegant galas in the Southeast, featuring more than 4,000 roses of all varieties and raising more than $400,000 to benefit local charities. Clement's Kindness is proud to be a beneficiary of the 2011 event, held on September 16, 2011.

Peter Larocque, president of U.S. Distribution for SYNNEX Corporation, visits with patients from the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center.

The Drive pitches in to help Clement's Kindness.

For the second year in a row, The Greenville Drive hosted six families from the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center for a special photo shoot, a morning of fun and games with the team's players, and a cookout luncheon. The Greenville Drive is a Boston Red Sox Class A minor league affiliate that makes their home in downtown Greenville.

When the children arrived at the field, every child and sibling received a Greenville Drive t-shirt, mascot doll, and baseball for autographs. However, it was The Greenville Drive baseball players that truly made the day extra special. After a grueling schedule of games in the summer heat, the players got up early, suited up, and spent the morning meeting the children, giving autographs, and playing baseball with the patients and their siblings. When lunch was served, the players joined the families for their meal.

Spending the day with the Greenville Drive is uplifting and carefree for the patients and their sibling. Clement's Kindness greatly appreciates the Greenville Drive giving these families such a wonderful opportunity for fun and fellowship.

Help us make a difference.

With your help and support, Clement's Kindness can continue to make a big difference. A donation is the perfect opportunity to touch the hearts of these incredible families and see your generosity at work in the Upstate.

Every donation goes directly to the patients and their families. Your donation may be used for gas money to take a child back and forth for chemotherapy over the course of several months. Or your donation could provide funds for a plane ticket to visit a specialist across the country. Your donation may be used to help with a mortgage payment because a mother had to leave her job to care for her child. As you've seen, the needs are many, but so are the opportunities to help:

$5,000 will provide funds for a School Intervention Program, which helps transition and prepare children to reenter a school environment.

$2,500 will sponsor a Family Support Day and Retreat.

$1,000 will pay for incidental expenses for a family to take a trip to Duke University for a bone marrow transport evaluation.

$500 will help a family with a mortgage payment or their utility bills for a month.

$250 can fund a monthly Teenager Support Meeting and pizza lunch.

$150 can be used for an initial medication evaluation for a patient and family member.

$50 will pay for a gas card for transportation to and from appointments or a grocery store gift card.

If you are able to, please remember Clement's Kindness Fund for Children in your will. All contributions and donations are tax deductible. Please check with your tax advisor.

A Little Kindness Can Make a Big Difference

Thank you for your kindness.

Clement's Kindness would like to thank the following donors who have helped make a big difference in so many peoples' lives. Your contribution goes directly to helping these patients and families that come to the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center from across the Upstate, including Abbeville, Cherokee, Greenville, Laurens, Spartanburg, and Union counties. We thank you for your generosity because without your kindness we would not be able to help.
