

CELEBRATING 15 YEARS OF KINDNESS!

A Little Kindness Can Make a Big Difference

JULY 2016 – DECEMBER 2017

Thank You For Fifteen Years!

The story of Clement's Kindness began in 1998 when our youngest son, Clement, died suddenly at the age of 24. As you can imagine, we were heartbroken and wanted to honor his memory in a special way — that way became Clement's Kindness. We are absolutely certain that the Lord was leading us and gave us the ability to fulfill this desire. Clement's Kindness was created at the Community Foundation of Greenville in 2002.

We could not have predicted how successful Clement's Kindness would become in 15 years! With the compassion, wisdom and support from the entire team at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center, Clement's Kindness has provided nearly $1 million in financial support to families right here in the Upstate. In addition, Clement's Kindness has provided over $1.3 million for various hospital programs, facility upgrades and services for the families of BI-LO Children's Cancer Center and Bon Secours St. Francis Adolescent and Young Adult Cancer Center.

We can't think of a better way to honor Clement's legacy, and we are deeply humbled at the support we have received from YOU. With your help, Clement's Kindness has been able to provide an incredible amount of funding to these children and their families. On behalf of Clement's Kindness, we are deeply touched and very thankful for your generous donations.

Knox and Priscilla Haynsworth

How Clement's Kindness Helps

Knox and Priscilla Haynsworth established Clement's Kindness Fund for the Children in 2002 at the Community Foundation in Greenville to address the medical, psychological, social, emotional and financial needs of Upstate families impacted by pediatric cancer and serious blood disorders.

Clement's Kindness was created in honor of the Haynsworths' late son, Clement, who passed away at the age of 24. Clement loved children and had a kind and giving spirit and they wanted to honor his legacy by making it their lives work to help children in need.

Today, Clement's Kindness continues to serve the Upstate community through funding and support of the following hospitals:

TIRAJI BRADLEY, 7

Acute lymphoblastic leukemia

Seven-year-old Tiraji Bradley is smack dab in the middle of his four siblings. From kicking the soccer ball around to hogging the video game controller, these kids love having fun together. But when they go outside to play, Tiraji is often the first one back in.

"His body is just tired," explains his mother, Alaina Hagler. "It's hard on his brothers too. They don't understand Tiraji can't always do the things they can do."

Tiraji has acute lymphoblastic leukemia, an illness he's been fighting for three years. His chemotherapy treatment has included transfusions and pills, which can cause fatigue, among other symptoms. Because of this, Tiraji had to miss the entirety of 4K, making his transition to kindergarten difficult. He fell behind.

Through Clement's Kindness and the School Intervention Program, Tiraji was given homebound services, making it easier for him to catch up on learning when he missed school. Currently he is in second grade at Berea Elementary, and when he gets his port out in a few months, he can't wait to sign up for football and soccer with other kids his age.

"This program has helped financially, so much so that I wouldn't have been able to make it," says Alaina, a single mother. Clement's Kindness has assisted Alaina with bill payments, and the entire family attended the Finding Dory movie release, the SYNNEX Share the Magic baseball game, and participated in multiple Carowinds Days.

"It's given me the opportunity to take them and do things that I couldn't do on my own," Alaina says. "It's definitely a stress reliever, being able to see them all smile."

"THIS PROGRAM HAS HELPED FINANCIALLY, SO MUCH SO THAT I WOULDN'T HAVE BEEN ABLE TO MAKE IT."

— Alaina Hagler, Tiraji's mother

ADDILEE FREEMAN, 7

Langerhan's cell histiocytosis

Addilee Freeman was diagnosed with Langerhan's cell histiocytosis, a disorder occurring when immature white blood cells start attacking the body, like cancer. Her mother Amber noticed she was drinking a lot of water—too much water. The doctor suggested a fluid restriction test, and after not drinking anything for six hours, Addilee lost ten percent of her body weight. She went straight to the hospital, where they diagnosed her with diabetes insipidus, a metabolism disorder. When they began searching for the cause, the doctors discovered Addilee had Langerhan's.

At just five-years-old, Addilee began chemotherapy and after a year of treatment, a surveillance scan revealed a spot that caused concern. Addilee would need a second opinion outside of Greenville. An expert in Langerhan's would be willing to see her, but she'd have to go to Cincinnati—a difficult and expensive trip for a family with four young children.

"That's when Clement's Kindness came into our lives," says Amber. "It was just a huge blessing for them to help us."

Clement's Kindness maintains a special fund to help families travel when treatment requires out-of-town doctors visits. This not only allowed the Freemans to make the trip, it also transformed the entire experience. Instead of a stressful medical evaluation, they turned the trip into a fun-filled four-day vacation, which included big pluses like exploring the Ark Encounter in Kentucky and staying in a hotel with a pool.

The specialist in Cincinnati recommended increasing Addilee's chemotherapy treatment. She returned to the Knox and Priscilla Day Hospital at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center for four-hour sessions, five days in a row every three weeks. It was an exhausting regimen, but receiving treatments at the day hospital, which was recently renovated by Clement's Kindness, provided a welcoming atmosphere, and lifted the heaviness of the experience.

"It's nice for her not be secluded in a room where she is all alone," Amber says. "She can see other kids who are having to go through it. We're really thankful for Clement's Kindness."

"...WHEN CLEMENT'S KINDNESS CAME INTO OUR LIVES... IT WAS JUST A HUGE BLESSING FOR THEM TO HELP US." — Amber Freeman, Addilee's mother

SKYLAR BROWNLEE, 5

Acute lymphoblastic leukemia

"Keep moving forward" is Amanda Hildreth's life motto, a mantra she and her two daughters have championed during the last two years. Her five-year-old Skylar seems to have taken this to heart, especially when it comes to her Zumba class.

"It has a big mirror, and she can watch herself shimmy and shake," Amanda explains. "I'll peak in and watch her, and she's the one with the biggest motions."

But forward motion for Skylar and her family has not always been as easy as a 30-minute dance session. In 2015, Amanda's husband passed away, leaving the girls without a father. Not long after, Skylar started having trouble walking. Testing revealed acute lymphoblastic leukemia, but even after her treatment began, Skylar still wasn't walking. At that point Amanda was no longer able to work and the family of three moved into the hospital, all while still processing the grief of losing a family member.

In the darkest moments, the push to keep moving forward became a banner of hope, and on Amanda's birthday, Skylar was able to ride a bicycle with help, despite not having walked for months. It was the best gift Amanda could have asked for.

Since then, Skylar has made leaps and bounds, and ended her treatment just in time to start kindergarten at Plain Elementary. Even though she's responded remarkably, fatigue is still a common side effect, especially when walking for long periods of time. Through the help of Clement's Kindness, Amanda purchased a high poundage stroller for Skylar.

"When we have a lot to do, I automatically bring that stroller," Amanda says. "I know she's not going to be able to walk far, and we don't want to be excluded from activities."

Skylar and her family also attended the Clement's Kindness Carowinds Day, along with the SYNNEX Share the Magic baseball game and the Embassy Suites Fun Day. For Amanda, these events are greatly appreciated by her and her girls. "Everything they coordinate is something huge for them to look forward to," Amanda explains. "Keep moving forward, that's our word."

"Everything they coordinate is something huge for them to look forward too." — Amanda Hildreth, Skylar's mother

ABIGAIL JAIMES-VILLA, 10

Acute lymphoblastic leukemia

Abigail Jaimes-Villa, Abby for short, may only be ten, but she's wise well beyond her years. Not only is she smart—she is a straight-A student—she's also a natural leader. At school, Abby was handpicked by her teachers to give a speech talking to other students about overcoming life's challenges. But deep down, she's still a normal kid, and like most kids her age, she loves food, particularly chicken wings.

"She's got all the jokes," her father Gabriel Jaimes Mora says. "She always says, 'food is my boyfriend.'"

Abby was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukemia in 2015. Her parents were concerned when she looked paler than normal, and took her to see a doctor. Her pediatrician sent her to Greenville where they soon discovered cancer.

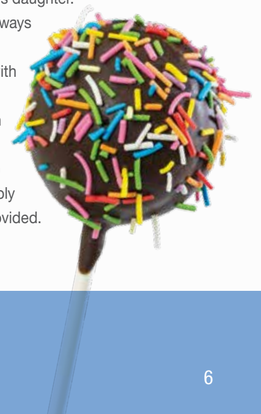

"We were devastated because you always hear it on TV or from someone else," says Gabriel. "You never expect it to be your daughter."

Abby began chemo treatments shortly after diagnosis, and started losing her hair. This can be a tough process for children, especially when others don't understand what's going on. But through Clement's Kindness, Abby was able to attend Camp Courage last summer, where she met other kids who had lost their hair as well. For Abby, becoming friends with kids who were experiencing the same challenges was huge. She loved it so much, she packed her bags early for camp this summer.

Abby recently completed her treatment. As Gabriel describes her progress, his face lights up, illuminating how proud he is of his daughter.

"She's real, real smart," Gabriel says. "She's always ahead in everything."

Clement's Kindness provided Abby's family with financial assistance and the coordination of homebound services through the School Intervention Program. They also attended the Carowinds Day, where Abby rode as many rides as possible, not to mention the waterpark slides. Their family is incredibly grateful for the support Clement's Kindness has provided.

"You never expect it to be your daughter."

— Gabriel Jaimes Mora , Abby's father

PATRICK McSHANE, 17
Osteosarcoma

Patrick McShane is not one to brag. In fact, if you ask Patrick about his story, he'd say he's just an average 17 year-old with a knack for math and a passion for racecars. But he's being humble. Patrick and his family have been through challenging times, and with the help of Make-A-Wish, he's transformed that challenge into blessing for others.

"I wanted to give back to the people who got me through this," Patrick says.

By this, Patrick means his encounter with osteosarcoma, or bone cancer. He had two surgeries to extract a tennis ball-size tumor in his scull. Patrick was put on chemotherapy for eight months and missed his entire sophomore year of high school.

The treatment period was a difficult time for him and his family. Patrick's mom stopped working to drive him from Spartanburg to Greenville for chemo, and the family leaned on Clement's Kindness for financial support. Because he spent most days in the hospital, he missed out on opportunities to hang out with his four siblings. But instead of allowing hardship to darken his mindset, he chose to stand on brighter ground.

"My dad pulled me aside one day and he said, 'There's nothing you can do at this point but keep going forward with a positive mentality. Your cards have already been dealt, you have to play them in the best way,'" Patrick explains. "There's no reason I should be sad or upset, because I'm alive."

With his father's words as fuel, Patrick finished treatment in time to return for his junior year of high school. Clement's Kindness helped make this transition smoother, as Patrick kept up with classes by using homebound services coordinated by the School Intervention Program.

Patrick's gratitude for the support he received is palpable; in fact he says it gave him "a reason to keep fighting." But it goes far beyond words. As the ultimate expression of gratitude—and a nod to his love for racing—Patrick used his wish with the Make-A-Wish Foundation to host a charity event at the Cherokee Speedway. The race, which took place in March, raised $10,000 for Clement's Kindness.

Patrick currently attends community college with plans to transfer to Clemson University's engineering program.

"WITHOUT KIND PEOPLE AROUND, PEOPLE GIVING TO MY FAMILY, PEOPLE JUST TO BE THERE AND PRAY FOR US, PEOPLE JUST TO SAY 'I HOPE YOU CAN GET THROUGH THIS, WE'RE THINKING ABOUT YOU.' WITHOUT THAT SUPPORT BEHIND ME, I DON'T THINK I'D BE HERE RIGHT NOW." — Patrick McShane

ELLA WEATHERS, 4
Acute lymphoblastic leukemia

"One thing Clement's Kindness gave her was carousels," says Cindy Weathers, referring to her feisty four-year-old Ella. "When we went to Carowinds she literally rode the carousel for three hours straight."

Ella and her parents, along with her two older siblings, experienced this theme park thrill during the Clement's Kindness Carowinds Day for families at BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center. Ella, who was diagnosed three years ago, hopped on every single horse the Carowinds carousel had to offer.

In 2014 at Ella's 18-month well check, her pediatrician was concerned when she showed signs of a bad cold. After some blood work, it came out that Ella had lymphoblastic leukemia, and she immediately started chemotherapy. Because of her high-risk status, Ella required hospital visits at least once a week for treatment, which ranged from pills to shots to infusions. Such an aggressive regimen can be straining on anyone's body, much less on a toddler's, but Cindy says Ella displayed a remarkable and inspiring depth of strength throughout the entire two-year process.

Ella completed her final round of treatment a year ago, and her mom says she's as feisty as ever, with a head full of red hair to prove it. She's also still crazy about carousels. Along with the Carowinds Day and the SYNNEX Share the Magic baseball game, Clement's Kindness provided Ella's family with financial assistance for mortgage payments and other monthly bills as well as a celebratory gift bag after her final round of treatment.

"ONE THING CLEMENT'S KINDNESS GAVE HER WAS CAROUSELS." — Cindy Weathers , Ella's mother

To celebrate 15 years of serving the Upstate community, Clement's Kindness invited several families of the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center to a birthday party at The Chocolate Moose located in M. Judson's Bookstore in downtown Greenville.

Just like any proper birthday celebration, it was filled with lots of cupcakes, sprinkles, balloons, smiles and giggles. The morning began with each child decorating an apron which quickly followed into mixing up a batch of The Chocolate Moose's vegan chocolate cupcake batter. A quick tour of the kitchen led straight to the main event — decorating cupcakes. Cupcakes toppings included several colorful icings and decorations and the final products were too pretty to eat right away.

The day ended with balloon art by Jay Dee Productions, and a tasty lunch provided by The Chocolate Moose.

Clement's Kindness is extremely grateful to The Chocolate Moose and M. Judson Booksellers and Storytellers for providing a one-of-a-kind Birthday celebration and creating such a special day for a few of our families from the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center.

STAR – Someone To Always Remember

Unfortunately, the battle with cancer or serious blood disorders doesn't always end with a patient in recovery. It can be a long and bumpy road ending in a loss of a child, leaving parents and other family members in a whirlwind of emotions. Clement's Kindness supports these families through diagnoses, treatment, recovery and unfortunately sometimes, loss.

Led by Reverend Patrick Jinks, the STAR Program is a support group for families who have experienced the deep grief that comes with the loss of a child. Monthly meetings are designed to help families learn how to cope with the change in family structure, size and loss.

Reverend Patrick Jinks

"No parent in their wildest dream imagines that they will lose a child. This is a "club" no family wishes to be a member of. Yet, those of us who find ourselves in this elite group find STAR to be an immeasurable blessing! It is a safe haven from a world that moves on without our child. It is a place where our precious children are remembered and loved. Some children we knew while they were here on earth and some we know from memories shared. The beauty is, because of STAR, we can know and love each of them. In addition, STAR provides a place that siblings can share with their peers who "get it," a rarity in the realm of their day to day lives. Our STAR group provides that place where we find unconditional love, support, tears, laughter, and acceptance. It makes this difficult journey a bit more bearable when you have people to share it with. I don't think God ever intended for us to make it alone. That is why I am so grateful that this STAR family exists."

— Angie Gleason

During STAR camp each year, a special service of remembrance is held to honor each and every one of the children who so courageously stood up to cancer. This year, our families lovingly crafted lighted blocks with their child's name and special pictures. The blocks are a small but assured reminder that their child's light continues to shine and be remembered, even in their absence.

Camp Courage

Clement's Kindness enjoys providing fun activities and outings as a break from doctors' appointments and treatments for patients at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center. One of the most cherished outings is Camp Courage which consists of two one-week long camps, one for teens and one for children, designed to promote normal development, coping and peer support, as well as recreation.

Dr. Stroud Camper Care Center

In June 2017, the Dr. Cary E. Stroud Camper Care Center was completed at the Pleasant Ridge Camp & Retreat Center. Clement's Kindness donated $431,000 for the construction of the center which will allow doctors to give treatments on-site to allow more patients to attend Camp Courage.

Dr. Cary E. Stroud, namesake of the Camper Care Center, was the former Medical Director of the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center at Greenville Health System.

Owned and operated by Greenville County Parks, Recreation, & Tourism, the camp was built to provide a camp experience regardless of medical, physical or mental constraints.

The opening event was held in August to honor Dr. Stroud and celebrate the opening of the infirmary.

Clement's Kindness Children's Garden in Honor of William F. Schmidt III, MD

A dedication event was held in October, 2017, to celebrate the naming of the Clement's Kindness Children's Garden in honor of William F. Schmidt III, MD at the Cancer Survivors Park. Clement's Kindness donated $250,000 for the construction of the Children's Garden.

William F. Schmidt III, MD is the medical director of the Children's Hospital of Greenville Health System (GHS) and vice president of development for the GHS Health Sciences Center. He is a pediatric hematologist-oncologist, earning his medical degree from Duke University.

The garden is located on 15,000 square feet of land in the Cancer Survivors Park between the Swamp Rabbit Trail and the Reedy River near the Church Street Bridge. The two-level garden's central feature is a 4-foot by 8-foot bronze sculpture by artist Charles Pate, Jr., titled "Fear Not" and is a small child drawing courage from the protective embrace of a majestic lion. Two distinct entrances lead into a space with benches and a swing to encourage a playful and hopeful atmosphere.

Dr. William F. Schmidt, III, and family

Ruth Cook began her career at Greenville General in 1958 on the pediatric floor and retired from the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center at Greenville Health System in 2008. Ruth's fifty years of service allowed for her to care for numerous Upstate children fighting cancer or serious blood disorders. Her impact on past patients and families has had an everlasting mark on their lives, evident by the letters and calls she still receives from them.

Ruth was most notably known for her connection with each child and how she would rock them when they were tired or ill. To celebrate her legacy, Clement's Kindness purchased a rocking chair that was placed in the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center to signify her years of service and dedication to every sick child in her care.

A celebratory event was held in January, 2017, for Ruth at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center.

Celebrating a Legacy: Ruth Cook – Fifty-year Retired Nurse of Greenville Health System

"I've have had the privilege of having Ruth Cook as a coworker and dear friend since 1973. Her life is a sterling example of a life well lived. Her professional and personal life has always been guided by courage, commitment and compassion. She has enriched my life and the lives of many patients at BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center beyond measure."

— Dr. Cary E. Stroud, Former Medical Director of the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center

A Little Tiger Kindness

Clement's Kindness' partnership with Clemson University has brought a lot of excitement and fun for patients and their families of the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center. Between attending Clemson football, basketball and cheerleading events and hospital visits with the Tiger, football players and cheerleaders, it was a very orange year!

All Off for Cancer — Sean Pollard

Sean Pollard, a Sophomore offensive lineman for the Clemson University Tigers, first became connected with Clement's Kindness through their yearly visits to the Clemson Football practice. After visiting these children and their families at the BI-LO Charities Children's Cancer Center, witnessing their treatments and interacting with their families, he wanted to do more.

Sean started the "All Off for Cancer" event to raise funds for Clement's Kindness. He enlisted several teammates and encouraged fans and students to attend the fundraising event at their football facility which raised more than $10,000. Patients, ranging in ages from 4 to 10, were able to shave the players' heads bald in a highly entertaining display in front of the crowd.

Thank you, Sean, for your support of our patients and families, and using your platform to bring awareness to Clement's Kindness.

J.L. Mann High School

Clement's Kindness was selected by the student body as the charity recipient of their 2016 Spirit Week. Students raised more than $189,000 allowing us to carry out many of the projects and programming outlined in this report. Thank you, J.L. Mann, for believing in our mission and allowing us to participate in fun activities during Spirit Week!

SYNNEX Share the Magic

SYNNEX Share the Magic, SYNNEX Corporation's annual fundraising event, provides support for Upstate, South Carolina children and youth facing incredible challenges such as life-threatening illnesses, abuse, neglect, or developmental delays.

This fundraising event was founded by Peter Larocque, President, North America Distribution of SYNNEX Corporation in 2010. Because of Peter's desire to give back to the community and determination to succeed, SYNNEX Share the Magic has raised more than $5 million since its inception for local children in need.

Thank you, SYNNEX Corporation and SYNNEX Share the Magic, for greatly impacting our ability to help our families and allowing us to increase the level of support that we are able to provide to the community.

SYNNEX Share the Magic and the Greenville Drive partnered together to host our patients and their families for a fundraising game in June. A few of our patients were able to participate in the gameday festivities on the field which included throwing and catching the first pitch as well as serving as the bat boy for several innings. Thank you to SYNNEX Share the Magic and the Greenville Drive for providing a wonderful afternoon to brighten our families' spirits!

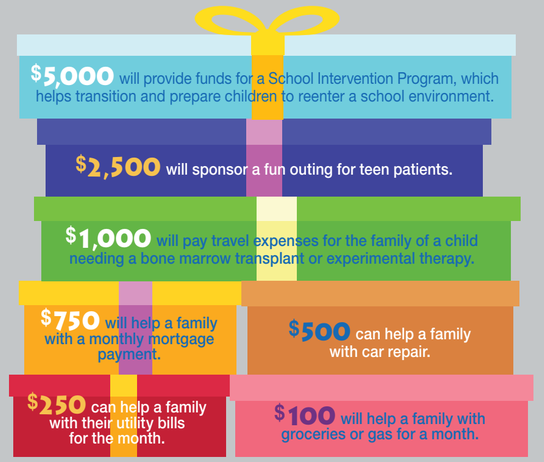

Help us make a difference.

With your help and support, Clement's Kindness can continue to make a big difference. A donation is the perfect opportunity to touch the hearts of these incredible families and see your generosity at work in the Upstate. Every donation goes directly to the patients and their families. Your donation may be used for gas money to take a child back and forth for chemotherapy over the course of several months. Your donation could provide funds for a plane ticket to visit a specialist across the country. Or your donation may be used to help with a mortgage payment because a mother had to leave her job to care for her child.

As you've seen, the needs are many, but so are the opportunities to help.

Clement's Kindness would love to share with you how your support is making a difference in the lives of these families. Please be sure to provide your email address with your donation in order for us to keep you updated!

If you are able to, please remember Clement's Kindness Fund for the Children in your will. All contributions and donations are tax deductible. Please check with your tax advisor.
